- √ ALL parties will sign the “Agreement to Stop the Order of Assignment” in front of a Clerk of the Court or a Notary, AND
- √ If the State of Arizona (DES) was involved in your case, a representative of DES will also sign the “Agreement,” AND

BOTH of the following conditions apply:

1. The person making payments does not owe any more money under this Order or the obligation to pay will end, within 90 days of filing this Agreement.
2. There is no money owed for back child support or spousal maintenance arrears, AND current payments should stop because:
 - all children named in the Support Order are 18 and not attending high school; and/or
 - all spousal maintenance is paid; or

* If the court order is not from this county, a copy of the Order of Dismissal, Custody or Adoption will be required. If a party or child is deceased, proof such as copy of death certificate or obituary notice will be required.

DO NOT USE THESE FORMS IF:

- X The other party will not sign the “Agreement to Stop Order of Assignment.”
- X Money is still owed for current or past due child support or spousal maintenance (alimony) according to the underlying Order for support or maintenance.
- X There has never been an “Order of Assignment” in this case. (Note: If money is still owed but the amount should be changed, go to www.mohavecourts.com to view the forms to modify the Order of Assignment and/or the Support Order to determine whether either applies to your situation.

NOTE: If your “Order of Assignment” was issued after January 1, 2005, there may be an automatic stop date on the Order. If there is and that date is correct, you do not need to file anything to stop the Order, though you may want to make sure the payroll department or other payor’s financial department of whomever has been making payments is aware of the termination date.
